* Call to Worship (Exodus 24:12-18)

Judi Harris, Liturgist

One: The Lord said to Moses, "Come up to me on the mountain and wait there; I will give you the tablets of stone, with the law and the commandment, which I have written for their instruction."

All: So Moses set out with his assistant Joshua, and Moses went up onto the mountain of God.

One: To the elders he had said, "Wait here for us, until we come back to you. Look, Aaron and Hur are with you; whoever has a dispute may go to them."

All: Then Moses went up on the mountain, and the cloud covered the mountain. The glory of the Lord settled on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it for six days; on the seventh day he called to Moses out of the cloud.

One: Now the appearance of the glory of the Lord was like a devouring fire on the top of the mountain in the sight of the Israelites.

All: Moses entered the cloud and went up on the mountain. Moses was on the mountain for forty days and forty nights.

2. *Everywhere I go, I'm gonna let it shine.
Everywhere I go, I'm gonna let it shine.
Everywhere I go, I'm gonna let it shine,
let it shine, let it shine, let it shine.*

3. *All around the world, I'm gonna let it shine.

let it shine, let it shine, let it shine.*

Prayer of Confession

Judi Harris, Liturgist

One: We wait for God to show up, and while waiting, do not notice the words we might have spoken, the good we could have done. Let us confess to our God, who waits to surround us with grace and hope, as we pray together, saying,

All: Our judgment often becomes clouded by our foolishness, Sheltering God, and so we often make wrong choices. Too often we build grand edifices crafted out of our opinions of how you should act and be. And yet you call us to gather up all the broken dreams of the most vulnerable to build a more just world. Our fears can convince us that we must always be achieving more, attempting to climb to the top, sometimes at the expense of others. Forgive us. Instead, we ask to hear your songs of reconciliation and hope so that we might be a lamp shining in the dark places. Speak to us, O God, so we can listen to your dreams of an earthly realm where each person understands that they are your beloved child. *Silent Prayer. Amen.

Promise of the Gospel and Passing of the Peace

Judi Harris, Liturgist

One: On mountaintops and in valleys, in moments when our lives are shrouded and as well as when we reflect Christ's light, God is with us, declaring we are the beloved!

All: In this moment, in every moment, may we glimpse the grace of God which comes and transfigures our lives. Thanks be to God, we are forgiven! Amen.

One: It is as a forgiven people that we emerge from the shadow of sin and into the light of forgiveness. May the peace of Christ be with you.

All: And also with you. Please greet your fellow worshippers in ways you feel comfortable.

* Jazz Response

Peace

JAZZ NOTES

PRELUDE

"I'm Beginning to See the Light" is a popular 1944 jazz standard by Duke Ellington. While often interpreted as a love song, the reference to light can also refer to a spiritual journey, the transition from darkness to enlightenment. It signifies a moment of clarity, self-discovery, and hope when confusion is replaced by "light".

HYMN

“This Little Light of Mine” is an American gospel song from the 1920s originally written for children. The lyrics’ biblical roots are from Matthew 5: 14-16 where Jesus calls his followers “the light of the world”. In the 1950s and 60s the song was transformed into a powerful Civil Rights anthem reflecting the struggles for justice and equality. Even today, the lyrics remind us to let our own light shine for kindness and goodness.

JAZZ RESPONSE

Horace Silver was an American jazz pianist, composer, and arranger. As a composer he led a return to an emphasis on melody foreshadowing a gradual return to melodic creativity among jazz composers. One of his most popular compositions, ”Peace”, was first recorded in 1959. According to Silver, “I was doodlin’ around on the piano and it just came to me, but I also had the feeling that there was an angel standing over me impressing my mind with this beautiful melody and harmony.”

JAZZ ANTHEM

“Hallelujah” was written by Canadian singer Leonard Cohen in 1984. When Cohen first recorded the song he described it as “rather joyous” and that it came from “a desire to affirm my faith in life, not in some formal religious way but with enthusiasm, with emotion. When one looks at the world there is only one thing to say, and it’s hallelujah.”

JAZZ REFLECTION

“The Gift of Love” was written and arranged by the beloved composer and Presbyterian Church musician Hal Hopson. The lyrics based on 1 Corinthians: 13 were adapted to the traditional English/Scottish folk melody “Waly, Waly”.

OFFERTORY

“Wade in the Water” is a 19th century African American spiritual. The lyrics blend Biblical references of baptism, rebirth, and deliverance with a coded guide for the Underground Railroad. The escaping slaves were told to wade in the water to hide their scent from tracking dogs.

COMMUNION

The origin of the gospel hymn “Just a Closer Walk with Thee” is unknown, but it is believed to have emerged from the 19th century African American spiritual tradition predating the Civil War. Although originally sung by slaves as they worked the fields, it has since become a jazz classic often associated with New Orleans funeral processions.

HYMN

“We are Marching in the Light of God” (Siyahamba) is a joyful Zulu freedom song originating in a Methodist young men’s group in South Africa. The hymn became popular in North America in the 1990s and is sung in many languages around the world.

POSTLUDE

“Second Line” (Joe Avery’s Blues) is a staple New Orleans jazz tune frequently associated with brass band parades and funeral processions. The second line refers to the followers who dance, strut, and wave handkerchiefs or umbrellas behind the main parade band.
